HIGH LIFE ESTANCIERING.

The saladeristas complain that whilst horned cattle have increased wondrously in the camp within the last three years, and the stock of "novillos" on the estancias was never at any previous season more numerous, still there is no "gordura," and, in fact, there never were fewer animals than at present to kill.

The subject is one of great interest to us all, and merits inquiry, since cattle "al corte" have so fallen in price and the camps have become so stocked that the question naturally arises, "If the saladeristas won't buy the novillos, what are we to do with them?" But the cause of all this is as obvious as is the remedy easy.

Within the last three years hundreds—we might say thousands—of leagues of new frontier lands have been stocked. The cattle increase wonderfully on these new camps; 35 to 50 per cent. is the average increase of these "rodeos." A good piece of "pasto fuerte" camp, well fenced, and a good supply of water for the animals, are all that is needed for the outside estanciero.

In two years a rodeo of 1000 cows is doubled; the increase of cattle throughout the country is at once felt: but, although the cattle on those camps increase, they do not fatten. The novillos are thin all the year round. The fact now stares the estanciero in the face that the simple wire-fence will not fatten the novillos for market; and if he wants to make money out of his stock, he must either have some fine fattening land inside, whereon to "invernar" his novillos for market, or he must plough up his land, grow alfalfa, make ricks of hay around his estancia house, part out every season so many novillos to be fattened on hay and green alfalfa, otherwise his land becomes over-stocked, and with animals that are all but unsaleable.

Too much High Life in the camp is the complaint of the saladeristas, whose business is all but brought to a standstill for the want of fat animals to kill. The cattle estanciero is a nabob in his own way—a lazy noodle, who never in his life ploughed a square of land, who knows as little about mowing as he does of making a hayrick. He buys the land, fences it, then turns the cows in on it, and leaves the rest to the bulls.

This system of estanciering is now virtually played out. We have even the outside lands overstocked, yet the "tropero" goes from estancia to estancia without finding a fat novillo. Novillos on pasto fuerte camp scarcely ever fatten. There are estancias with from 500 to 1000 novillos for sale, and not an animal worth the trouble of driving to the saladero.

In former years the necessity was not felt, as we had none of these great pasto fuerte estancia rodeos. The cows were on the fine inside lands; to-day that is all changed. The cows are outside, the sheep inside, and thus, whilst we have nine millions of cows, 'al corte,' in this province, fat novillos for saladeros are scarcer than ever.

This year will bring the required reform, since many of those estancieros will be played out, being unable to get in any rental whatever from places that stand them in millions. On all these outside lands the estanciero must make his own "invernada," either by ploughing up the land and growing sufficient alfalfa, or buying a place inside which will cost millions, and where he can fatten his novillos for the market or the saladero.

High Life estanciering does not pay, and the swell estancieros must take off their coats and plough their lands, or cattle will soon be down to 100 m/c 'al corte."

MUTTON FOR EVER!

The mutton question has at last reached the Government House, and yesterday, in the Foreign Affairs Department, there was nothing else talked of save Mr. Garcia's letter from London which we give at foot. H.E. seems to have had a capital hot River Plate mutton lunch in London, and everthing that comes to us from there about this magnificent new trade corroborates our views on the question.

We must indeed all be a pack of mutton-headed citizens if, with the market before us, the sheep in millions on our plains, the steamers ready to take it, and the people in Europe waiting with whetted appetites to eat it; if, with all these great elements in our favour, we should fail to establish a mutton trade between this country and Europe that will eclipse our wool and hide trade and add one hundred per cent to the value of our sheep and lands. We for our part think that Garcia's letter is better news for this country than the raising of a new Argentine loan of ten millions sterling; and with joy in our heart and pen, we publish the glorious news that the Argentine Government is determined to do everything possible to foment the trade, if necessary to start a company, and ship the mutton for Government account to London. Hurrah for the Mutton!

The following is the diplomatic mutton note:—

Mr. Minister,

I attended a lunch given yesterday by the River Plate Fresh Meat Company Limited, to test the frozen mutton that recently arrived from Buenos Aires. The result was simply splendid: The many well known persons present, amongst them the Uruguayan Minister, unanimously said so.

Every dish on the table was of mutton, but cooked in different ways, as Y. E. can see by the enclosed "menu". It was subject of general remark that no matter how cooked, the meat retained not only its primitive flavour, but also—which is most important—its consistency. All now admit that River Plate mutton rivals in delicacy of flavour the best mutton in England (Welsh mutton) whilst it is unanimously and spontaneously declared to be far superior to Australian.

On such a successful issue I must congratulate both Argentines and Englishmen; it is the beginning of a new export trade for the first; and for the second it fills a want long felt, chiefly in London—good and cheap meat.

God guard Y. E.

ROSARIO PORT WORKS.

We publish at foot the report of the Department of Engineers on the surveys which are being carried out in Rosario, with a view of improving it port accommodation.

Being a matter of public interest, and of paramount importance to the rapidly-increasing trade of this important locality, it cannot fail to be read with pleasure by all who can appreciate the great utility of these works.

The situation of Rosario, which has been appropriately called "The Key of the Republic," urgently claims for a safe harbour to meet the daily-increasing necessities of the trade with the Interior Provinces.

The surveys, which are being pushed on with activity, will soon be concluded, and we can then hope that, at no very distant day, the large ocean vessels that have occasion to visit the port, will find in the port of Rosario all the accommodation and security they require.

Buenos Aires, March 6, 1884.

To H.E. the Minister of the Interior,
Dr. Dn. Bernardo de Irigoyen.

I have the honour to report to Y.E. the actual condition and progress made with the surveys which this Department is carrying on at the riverside of the city of Rosario, and which are to serve as a basis of a project for the contemplated port works at that point.

The commission appointed to carry out these surveys is composed of the Inspector-General of Hydraulic Works and the engineers of this department. They commenced working on the 24th of December, and proceeded at first to make a general examination of the riverside between the Graneros and a point below the Gas Works, as well as of a larger area of the river, includng the canals, islands, banks, &c. After this general examination, the object of which was to determine the points requiring special attention and the area they ought to embrace, the proper surveys were undertaken in conformity with the general instructions which were issued by this Department on the 16th of November of last year, according to the provisions of the law of the 22nd of October 1883, and a copy of which was duly laid before Y.E.

The state of these surveys up to date is the following:—

Levels have been taken and the planometry made out over a length of 2,500 metres, by 300 metres breadth of the riverside. The total length of the sides of the poligonal is 7,200 meters, and these data are all laid out in the general plan made out, which includes all the surveys to be made on dry land.

Detailed measurements and plans have been made of all the buildings, moles and private grounds that have to be expropriated.

More than 80 profiles have been, moreover, taken and drawn on paper, after taking note of the strength of the river's current on the surface and at middle depth, which has been found to vary from 41 to 53 metres per minute. These observations have been made with reference to the basis of 4 m. 70 of the hydrometric scale of height established by the Commission on the wooden mole in course of construction.

The height of the water is taken every day at 11 a.m., in order to form a graphic table showing the differences of level.

At present the river soundings are continued between the Central Argentine and the Santa Fe Western Railway Stations, and are taken methodically upon transverse sections of the river, in order to determine not only the water, but also ascertain the position of the canals, banks and the configuration of the coast.

Once these soundings are concluded, which will probably be in one month, if the level of the river allows it, as likely it will, seeing its present rapid decrease, perforations will be made at all the points of the transverse sections where the foundations of the works are to be laid.

In order to fix exactly the situation of the banks and neighbouring islands, it will be necessary to wait till the waters get at their maximum low level, which may possibly take place as soon as the perforations are concluded.

The currents noted up to the present show a complicated configuration of the bed of the river and the existence of several eddies which should be known in all their details, and this can only be done when the water reaches its lowest level.

From the data obtained so far, it is possible to present to Y.E. a general and approximate idea of the form to be given to the project. It will consist principally, as shown in the sketch made out, of two longitudinal docks in a line one with the other, parallel with the shore, and of a length of about 600 metres each. The first will begin at the Progresso Mole, and reach as far as the first Mole of Castellanos, having at thispoint an entrance 50 metres wide, to allow coasting vessels to come in; The second, beginning at Mr. Molas's mole, will go as far as Mr. Casado's ruined mole, a little below the Gas Works. The construction of these two docks will be identical, and each will comprise an area of water equal to 6 or 7 hectareas (15 to 17 acres) and a depth of about 3 metres at low water. They are to be exclusively reserved for the smaller coasting craft, and are to be surrounded with moles and deposits for loading and unloading. The length of the moles in the interior of each dock to be from 1200 to 1300, and on the outside about 600 metres—the latter being reserved exclusively for the use of ocean-going vessels of great draught.

By dividing the docks into two, subject to any modification that may hereafter be introduced, it will be possible to avoid the expropriation of Mr. Casellanos' mole, which is the most valuable property to be purchased, and, in this case, the said moles might continue, as they do now, to be used for passengers and cargo. If, however, the expropriation of these moles was decided upon, they, and the canal that divides them, might be utilized with advantage for the use of passengers and for the formation of a dry dock.

LONDON LETTER.

THE GOVERNMENT ON ITS TRIAL.

Feb. 8th, 1884.

It will be remembered that the news of Baker Pasha's disastrous defeat arrived on the day of the opening of Parliament, and when Mr. Bourke was absolutely moving an amendment to the address in the House of Commons; that amendment relating to Egypt. By some accident—or as the Conservatives choose to say through malice—no one either on the part of the Ministry or on the Liberal benches rose to reply to the motion, and the debate was allowed to collapse, causing such indignation in the Conservative party that they rose as one man to their feet by way of demonstration. However, whether by accident or no, the Government was saved from the discussion of the Egyptian question at the moment when the news of the late disaster was paralysing even their own party. Since then, the Conservatives have resolved to move a formal vote of censure on the Government. The motion will be made on Tuesday next simultaneously in the House of Peers and in the Lower House, and in identical terms by Lord Salisbury and Sir Stafford Northcote respectively. It is to be hoped that in the interval we shall not receive the confirmation of the report already spread of the capture of Major-General Gordon. The rumour first appeared in a placard in the window of the Daily News, in Fleet Street, and was copied into the papers of last evening, although the managers of the Daily News did not publish it in a special edition of their own paper, and informed the Government that they attached no importance to the telegram from Cairo in which the news was announced. The same intelligence, however, appeared in the Paris Figaro, with the additional detail that General Gordon was captured by the Ashmarich tribe when he was two hours journey from Korosko, on his way across the desert to Berber. With certain English journals, such as the Pall Mall Gazette, Gordon is more than a superstition; he is an idol; and the thought of one hair of the gallant Scot's head being touched throws them into convulsions. And you must understand that a similar feeling is general in regard, not only to Gordon, but to all the English commanders in the Egyptian service, and through them the garrisons and non-combatants who, under other circumstances would not seriously occupy the public mind in England. It is, of course, not agreeable to read in silly French papers articles on the disasters to the Egyptian army, headed "Defeat of the English in the Soudan." It is no use repeating the truth, and it is no use any of us trying to think coolly on the real facts of the case which are, that through the particular policy of Mr. Gladstone's Government who has instructed all its agents in Cairo,—Lord Dufferin, Sir Edward Mallet and Sir Evelyn Baring—to ignore altogether Hicks, Baker and the whole Egyptian service and everything connected with Egypt's policy in the Soudan—for the world, including the British public itself, will hold the Government of Mr. Gladstone responsible for whatever happens in Egypt. To say that the world is right, is not so true as saying that Mr. Gladstone and Lord Granville, two bloodless old men, from political babyhood trussed with red tape, nurtured on Blue-books and bred in division lobbies, were wrong in not seeing that the subtleties by which they might diplomatically defend their policy would be swept away by public opinion in the hour of disaster. The terms of the Tory motion for a vote of censure are in the one word it contains —"vacillation." It may please Lord Granville to say cheerily and indifferently that the vacillation of the Government has been only that of a man who puts up his umbrella when it rains and takes it down again when it is fair; but the Government rather resembles those weak people who never have an umbrella when it is wanted, and annoy everyone with flourishing it about when it is not wanted. Mr. Gladstone's main policy—even his Egyptian policy—has been right; but either from vanity or obstinacy or want of political foresight, he never calculates on variations, and when these changed conditions occur he is always too late. We hear now of the marines at Portsmouth volunteering for service in Egypt, and of the battalions at Aldershot being named to proceed to the same destination. And yet, with provoking and pedagogical coolness, he reiterates that the failure of Baker to relieve Tokar makes no difference to the British policy in Egypt. That is quite true, as far as his policy is concerned, which was confined to the defence of Lower Egypt. But the military operations now threatened under much greater difficulties prove that they should have been undertaken when the news arrived of the annihilation of the Egyptian army under Hicks-Pasha. This General's dispatches are now before us in which he implores Sir Edward Mallet to represent to His Highness, the Khedive, that with his want of men, money and means of transport, his position was hopeless in pushing his army into Kordofan according to orders—that appear to be traitrous orders—received from Cairo. Mallet, in virtue of his instructions from Soudan tosses the dispatches to Cherif Pasha saying, "this is what Hicks writes, but understand I have nothing to do with it." And of course, nobody had anything to do with it, and Hicks and his men were sacrificed. In pursuance of a certain policy of abstention, that disaster might be pardoned to the English Government. But the same thing has occurred to Baker and Mr. Gladstone would obstinately look on, until the Mahdi was in the Delta, were he not now shamed into action by the indignation of his own party as well as of all Europe. His condemnation is universal. General Gordon, Sir Samuel Baker, and now Mr. Ranam, who have all of them held responsible positions either in the Soudan itself, or in those regions have told us and warned us, that Hicks would be defeated, and that Baker would be defeated, and Sir Samuel and Mr. Hassan—who was himself released from captivity in Abyssinia by Lord Napier of Magdala, at a cost to this country of £3,000,000—have just expressed their anxiety for the safety of Gordon; and still Mr. Gladstone persists in his idea of the pacification of Egypt as he did in that of Ireland, and sends policemen like Clifford Lloyd and Mr. Vincent to carry out his own pedagogical notions. Mixed up with all this are certain jealousies in "high quarters" as the Morning Post insinuates. The Gordons are not liked at our war-office, and Sir Evelyn Wood and Baker Pasha are bandying recrimminations.

As for the details of the Battle of the Teb, in which 2,500 of Baker's men were slaughtered in about 15 minutes, I send you Cameron's excellent letter published in the Standard, and also a very clear account taken from the Times of this morning. From the first cavalry charge and attempt to form the column into a square, it was one hideous muddle; nine-tenths of which may be ascribed to the cowardice and utter worthlessness of the Egyptian troops, but there is a fraction of the responsibility still to account for, and we must remember that the action was Colonel Valentine Baker's first essay as a tactician and field-officer. I see in to-day's papers that he is recalled to Cairo to resume his work in the organization of the gendarmerie.

Sir Samuel Baker—brother of Valentine—said before he left for Egypt in speaking of the treachery of the people at Cairo, that they sent General Hicks to be massacred. They did not wish him to succeed. They placed every obstacle in his way "and they would like to see Valentine share his fate." Another thing Sir Samuel said in proof of the value of the fertile regions in the Eastern Soudan, which he lost to Egypt through recent disasters. He said, "I myself only the other day received a very pressing offer from a syndicate of Englishmen formed for the purpose of taking possession of the wreck of the Soudan. This syndicate offered to place £1,000,000 at my disposal to be spent as I pleased, provided I would go out to the Soudan and establish a settled Government in their name."

This carries us back to the fountain and origin of the Egyptian mess. At present we have the popular and sentimental difficulty of saving 30,000 people from massacre to overcome; but the sharks of trade and usury will follow; and really there is no rest to the mind in looking forward to the complications which this mismanaged business in Egypt may entail. There is no other subject talked of, or what little there is I send you separately. I must add that Sir Samuel Baker, see Pall Mall Gazette of 7th inst., spoke of "brandy and water" dispatches from Khartoum.

MEETING OF TRIBES.

KASSALA INVESTED BY REBELS.

Suakin, February 15, 10 a.m.

A meeting of the principal chiefs of the neutral tribes has been held at Handouk Well, three hours journey from this place, at which it was decided to request Osman Digna to respect their territory, otherwise they would march against him.

Kassala has been invested by the rebels.

Cairo, February 15.

The British Government, replying to Sir Evelyn Wood, has declined to sanction his proposal for the co-operation of the Egyptian army in the expedition for the relief of Tokar, on the ground that it was expressly raised for the defense of Egypt Proper, excluding the Soudan. The British Government expresses approval, however, of the despatch of an English-officered battalion of the Egyptian army to Assouan, should that measure be decided upon.

The Black Watch, a portion of the Engineers, and the officers of the Intelligence Department, left Cairo for Suez this morning. The Mounted Infantry will start to-night and the Gordon Highlanders and the Rifles to-morrow night, and the Cavalry on Sunday morning.

The last transport will leave Suez on Monday morning with Major-General Graham, who will reach Cairo to-night. Telegraphic communication with Khartoum has been re-established.

General Gordon yesterday telegraphed from Berber to the Egyptian Government as follows:—"Stewart and I are all right. Do not bother about us. Do not want Bedawen and Korosko; take them away; do what you like with them. The people are coming in on all sides with enthusiasm. I hope soon the Soudan will be perfectly tranquil. Send me the camels for transport from Abu Hamad to Korosco. These are for the families of the slain in the Kordofan campaign." The Cairo correspondent of the Times says:—

General Gordon and Colonel Stewart both telegraph cheerfully. At Berber the General has appointed Hussein Bey Halifa, the Governor. Supreme Governor, with a Council of Notables; and at Khartoum he has dismissed the Governor and appointed Colonel de Coetlogon in his place, with a Council of Notables, retaining Ibrahim Haidar as commander of the forces. It is further asserted that General Gordon has addressed a letter to Mahdi as "Emir of Kordofan;" but this statement rests at present on more doubtful authority. Generally speaking, these measures have produced a feeling of confidence throughout the country, but it is advisable that confidence should not produce supineness. In sending forth General Gordon we are placing our eggs in one basket; and, however strong he may be, it must be remembered that the shaking of the basket is most violent. Any accident to the General would result in a collapse and panic beyond any yet witnessed.

General Gordon has telegraphed that the wires broken on the line to Khartoum have been restored.

In a telegram, dated early yesterday morning, he says:—"Just leaving for Khartoum. Give yourself no further anxiety about this part of the Soudan. The people, great and small, are heartily glad to be free of a union which has only caused them sorrow."

When General Gordon left Cairo his last words to Nubar Pasha were—"I will save the honour of Egypt." Nubar Pasha replied—"Never mind Egypt, save the women and children." From Berber General Gordon telegraphed to the Egyptian Premier—"I am sending down many women and children to Korosko. I wish you would send a kind-hearted man to meet them. Give him £1,000. A European is best." A few minutes later he telegraphed suggesting Mr. Baird, an Englishman at Wady Halfa. General Gordon was sufficiently great to apologise to the Khedive, and to confess that he had said and done many things which he regretted. His remarks, addressed to the Khedive and Nubar Pasha, and made in the presence of Sir Evelyn Baring and others, the Cairo correspondent of the Times said only increased the general admiration of him, and have rendered both his Highness and his Ministers his warmest allies The Khedive did not allude to his apologies, but said—"That is a man whom I feel the better for knowing. I am not ashamed to recognize in him my superior."

Telegraphing from Suakim yesterday, the special correspondent of the Standard says—"There appears no chance of the enemy taking the offent sive. The parties who have been hovering about in the vicinity of the town have all disappeared, but it is not known where they have gone, or what Osman Digna proposes to do. General Baker has applied for employment in any capacity in the new expedition, and would accept the appointment of head of the Intelligence Department, in which position his services would be invaluable, as he is now thoroughly acquainted with the country for many miles around this town, and also between Trinkitat and Tokar, while the officers newly appointed can have no personal knowledge whatever of the country."

MADAGASCAR.

Tamatave, Dec. 15.

On the 24th of November, Rainandriamampandry, Governor of Tamatave, who has been on a visit to the capital, returned to Tamatave with instructions from the Prime Minister to treat for peace on the following basis:

1. Recognition of French protectorate over the north of Madagascar on a line extending from Cape St. André, on the west coast, to Cape Bellone, on the east coast.

2. Abrogation of Article 85 of Malagasy laws. Right for French citizens to own and rent land and property. Revision of treaty of 1868 in sense to be settled by French Commissioners.

3. Payment of indemnity of £40,000, already claimed, and further war indemnity, and for losses suffered by foreign merchants and traders from hostilities

The above conditions were al accepted by the Hovas when Mr Bardais, the French Commissioner, required in addition the following:—

1. Recognition by the Hovas of the general right of France over all Madagascar.

2. Interdiction to the Hovas to put themselves under any protectorate but that of France.

The Hova Ambassador declined to accept these two latter clauses without further instructions from the Prime Minister.

The two latter clauses need no comment, being intended to clear away and destroy all British influence and all British interests in Madagascar; and if the Hovas accept these terms, we fear we may obliged to clear out of Madagascar, and see ourselves entirely ruined, as it is very doubtful if the French Government will be disposed to grand facilities to British subjects; I may be mistaken, but I fear not.

Lord Granville has written to express his sorrow for our loss and ruin, and tells us that we must grin and bear it, as the Liberal Government will not do anything for us; so that all those who have invested some two or three hundred thousand pounds in sugar and other property, besides the enormous loss to trade, Lord Granville just leaves to their fate and does not even send a Consul to see what is going on. It would be difficult to find a Ministry more indifferent to the foreign interests of Great Britain. There they are complacently looking on and allowing France to take possession of this fine island with some of the best harbours in the world and at the door of their Indian possessions.

The French can establish a splendid naval arsenal at Diego Suarez, on the north-east coast, and easily make it impregnable. Such is the policy of our present pusillanimous Ministry, who seem to go forward to the downfall of England. Of course the French are right in their point of view to profit by the cowardly attitude of our Government, which appears to be afraid of offending France.

There is nothing fresh except the shelling of the whole coast again by the French gunboats, including Mahanovo, the next most important port on the east coast after Tamatave. I annex a separate account of the bombardment of this place.

It seems a disgraceful state of things that British subjects who have settled in Madagascar and invested their property in the country in virtue of treaties should be treated in this way.

If this French treaty pass, the missionaries will have to clear out of Madagascar, as they are too little liked by French authorities to hope for any toleration on their part.

Sugar cultivation, which has been so suddenly nipped in the bud, was and is the future hope of all who have travelled in Madagascar. It is only a very short time since a serious beginning at sugar manufacture was made, and with results most satisfactory. The plantations rapidly increased year by year, and when, in the early part of this year, planters began calculating the value of their coming harvest, it was a pleasure to contemplate the future of this great island. But these poor, unfortunate British planters little thought then of what was in store for them, as, with but two or three exceptions, they were entirely dependent on their crops. The larger plantations are in the hands of merchants who, although considerable losers, are better able to wait the turn of events and still hope to be indemnified for their heavy losses.

Nearly all the sugar estates are within ten miles of Tamatave, the largest of them being only seven miles away. This plantation consists of nearly 3,000 acres of the finest land on the coast, and is perfectly flat, with a river running right through its centre. A few months before the occupation of Tamatave by the French the management of this estate was ceded by the Prime Minister to an English firm at Tamatave for a fixed term of years, the Government undertaking to provide the labour for cultivation and the firm in question the machinery and labour required in sugar making. The old sugar houses were being rebuilt when the French came, and the new machinery arrived from Mauritius only after the occupation of Tamatave, and is consequently still lying here, while the fine crop of canes, which were ready for cutting in June last, are rotting on the ground.

The estate next in importance is one belonging to Mr. H. Wilson, of Mauritius, and is the pioneer estate of the island. It consists of some thousand acres with a fine large mill erected at great expense, and everything was well established and in thorough going order. Some 700 acres of this land were under cultivation, representing probably 2,000 tons of sugar, and these canes are likewise decaying on the fields.

THE SOUDAN.

At a moment of such intense anxiety as the present, respecting the fate of whole garrisons, the population of towns, and the future of an immense country, the following remarks by General or, as he is called, Chinese Gordon, on the Soudan, will be read with deep interest. The paper was published in the Pall Mall Gazette, and attracted great attention. We have received it by the mail:—

"So you would abandon the Soudan? But the Eastern Soudan is indispensable to Egypt. It will cost you far more to retain your hold upon Egypt proper if you abandon your hold of the Eastern Soudan to the Mahdi or to the Turk than what it would to retain your hold upon Eastern Soudan by the aid of such material as exists in the provinces. Darfour and Kordofan must be abandoned. That I admit; but the province lying to the east of the White Nile should be retained, and north of Senaar. The danger to be feared is not that the Mahdi will march northward through Wady Halfa; on the contrary, it is very improbable that he will ever go so far north. The danger is altogether of a different nature. It arises from the influence which the spectacle of a conquering Mahomedan Power established close to your frontiers will exercise upon the population which you govern. In all the cities in Egypt it will be felt that what the Mahdi has done they may do; and as he has driven out the intruder and the infidel, they may do the same. Nor is it only England that has to face this danger. The success of the Mahdi has already excited dangerous fermentation in Arabia and Syria. Placards have been posted in Damascus calling upon the population to rise and drive out the Turks. If the whole of the Eastern Soudan is surrendered to the Mahdi, the Arab tribes on both sides of the Red Sea will take fire. In self-defence the Turks are bound to do something to cope with so formidable a danger, for it is quite possible that if nothing is done the whole of the Eastern question may be reopened by the triumph of the Mahdi. I see it is proposed to fortify Wady Halfa, and prepare there to resist the Mahdi's attack. You might as well fortify against a fever. Contagion of that kind cannot be kept out by fortifications and garrisons. But that it is real and that it does exist will be denied by no one cognisant with Egypt and the East. In self-defence, the policy of evacuation cannot possibly be justified.

"There is another aspect of the question. You have 6,000 men in Khartoum. What are you going to do with them? You have garrisons in Darfour, in Bahr Gazelle, and Gondokoro. Are they to be sacrificed? Their only offence is their loyalty to their Sovereign. For their fidelity you are going to abandon them to their fate. You say they are to retire upon Wady Halfa. But Gondokoro is 1,500 miles from Khartoum, and Khartoum is 350 only from Wady Halfa. How will you move your 6,000 men from Khartoum—to say nothing of other places—and all the Europeans in that city through the desert to Wady Halfa? Where are you going to get the camels to take them away? Will the Mahdi supply them? If they are to escape with their lives, the garrison will not be allowed to leave with a coat on their backs. They will be plundered to the skin, and even then their lives may not be spared. Whatever you may decide about evacuation, you cannot evacuate, because your army cannot be moved. You must either surrender absolutely to the Mahdi or defend Khartoum at all hazards. The latter is the only course which ought to be entertained. There is no serious difficulty about it. The Mahdi's forces will fall to pieces of themselves; but if in a moment of panic orders are issued for the abandonment of the whole of the Eastern Soudan, a blow will be struck against the security of Egypt and the peace of the East which may have fatal consequences.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Mutton, still mutton! Minister Garcia's letter from London to Dr Ortiz, telling him all about the River Plate mutton luncheon of which we gave particulars yesterday, confirms to the letter what we predicted in this column a week ago. The London 'gourmets' verdict on our mutton is that it is similar and equal in flavour to Welsh mutton, and far superior to the Australian article. If this is not good news for the Plate, then the sooner we have a destructive earthquake, deluge, tidal wave, or Hopskins storm, the better.

The event of events to-morrow night is the opening of the Bazaar for the French Orphanage, under the auspices of the Damas de Providencia. These distinguished and charitable ladies have spared neither time, trouble, or money to make their charity Fair a success, and the interior of the National Theatre has been converted into fairy-land for the occasion. In spite of the hot weather, we predict that the theatre will be crammed with the cream of society.

The heat yesterday baffles description. People were so done up that they could not even look at a thermometer, and made wild guesses at the temperature, one prostrated subscriber declaring his belief that it was at least 10,000° Fahrt. in the shade. The country will be lost if the heat lasts for another fortnight.

The Porvenir of Bahia Blanca reports a daring feat of seamanship by a merchant captain named Luces, when the steamer Loire was on her last trip to the South. As she was going out, bound for Santa Cruz, she had only reached buoy number four when night fell. The captain of the Loire was about to anchor, but Captain Luces, who represents the Oreiro Company, which has chartered the Loire for a year, said he knew where the buoys lay and would take the ship out to sea. After consultation, Captain Luces took command, and at 10 p.m. the steamer was in the open sea, having passed all the buoys safely. The wonderful part of the affair is that it was the first time Captain Luces ever saw Bahia Blanca. This same Captain ran the steamer also safely over the bar at Patagones, although the pilots on shore made signals that there was no water. On her voyage to Santa Cruz and back the Loire had no pilot on board. She hardly required one with such a mariner as Luces on board.

Colonel Viejobueno and Captain Martinez, of the 2nd Artillery, will leave for Europe on the 24th, on a Government Commission to visit the Arsenals of the Great Powers of Europe, in order that the best and most modern of everything in that line may be availed of for the new Arsenal here.

Telegrams from Biedma report the arrival of Commander Roa's expedition at Valcheta. They traced a new road from Chupat to the Rio Negro. General Winter will leave on Monday next to reconnoitre the military line and push on the works at General Roca, in which he takes great interest. Lista's party has also arrived at Valcheta, but so disorganised that it has burst up. The mining engineer and the photographer declared they could nat stand the bad treatment. At Castre they were a whole day without a morsel to eat. Commander Roa gave Lista Indian guides to take him to Chupat, where the rest of his party will leave him. This is an unpleasant end to the expedition.

The papers are full of that highly distinguished Italian, Amicis, and all the fuss, feeding and flattery that is being prepared for him. If he does not laud the country to the skies in his promised book about it, he must be more than human. What a howl there will be if he does not lay it on thick enough! We see that one of our colleagues has the bad taste to compare Amicis to Orkeke. "Shoking!"

The Royal Mail steamer Guadiana will sail to-morrow. Mails will close at 1 p.m. Mr. Thomas Drysdale and other prominent persons leave for the Old World in this steamer.

The telegrams from Montevideo announce the death of Alejandro Chucarro, tha last of the Constituents of 1830. He was 94 years of age. The Oriental Government ordered the very highest honours to be paid to his remains, and the funeral yesterday was the most imposing ever seen in Montevideo.

Marker, score again for the Zoophiles! In Calle Cangallo on Wednesday night, a Lacrozo tram driver was brutally beating one of the poor, sick, half-starved brutes he was driving, when one of the Zoos, Sr Almeida, came up, produced his card and had the poor brute detached from the car, the passengers in which gave Mr. A. a well-deserved cheer.

It is positively dangerous now to drink wine or eat pastry or caramelos, no matter where they are bought. A chemical analysis has proved that the white stuff on the top of the tart which was so near sending Mr. Matti and his family across the Styx the other day, was half antimony!

High jinks are announced to celebrate the removal of the Provincial Government to La Plata. A banquet, a ball, a Te Deum, illuminations, fireworks, gold, silver and bronze medals and the rest of it. That's the way the money goes, pop goes the weazle.

There was an unpleasantly stiff shock of earthquake in San Juan on Tuesday. The heat is so awful that an earthquake here would not surprise us a bit.

A lot of false 50 cent pieces, made of tin, has been discovered in the Rosario Custom House.

The swindle in the San Nicolas Pawn Office arose through the ignorance, not the dishonesty, of the valuator who was formerly a hide valuator, and naturally got out of his depth when jewelry was in question. A sharp German jeweller in this city took advantage of the poor man's ignorance, and pledged for 700,000$ m/c. jewels that are only worth 300,000$m/c. The parish-priest is stuck for the difference, as he is 'fiador' for the valuator.

A debtor and creditor met in the camp, Partido of Puyrredon, some days ago, and tried to make a settlement. One, however, was willing and the other unwilling, and soon it went from words to work. One had a knife and a rebenque, and the other a revolver. The fourth shot caused a cessation of hostilities, but the fellow himself had lost so much blood that he was unable to escape.

The Chascomus Education Board want to make a new beginning, owing to some difficulties caused by the payments of two treasurers. A revision of the books is also asked for, and permission to do the same thing over again.

Mounting a cart in motion by the wheel is about the surest manner in which one can be hurt, and yet Mr. Ignacio Lasario would try his luck, or skill, or folly, in this manner. The result was prejudicial to one of his fingers and some of his bones.

It is again announced that Sarah Bernhardt will come to South America this year.

A savage example of cruelty is reported from Rosario. A peon named Quiroga entered a pulperia called 'Los Veinte Cuartos' and called for 'tortos.' Two other peons who were already there began to jeer and make fun of him, and this taking no effect, to insult him. When he was thoroughly roused and, as they thought, dangerous, they armed themselves with paving-stones and commenced a most brutal and unequal fight. Quiroga's whole body was beaten into pulp, and he was left senseless, presumably lifeless. The police succeeded in arresting one of the fellows hiding under a bed, to which he clung like a leech. The other is unfortunately still at large.

Cedulas A	100
Cedulas E	88½
Cedulas F	83¾
National Bank Shares....	126½
National Bank Scrip.....	130
Argentine Gas Shares....	1,150

The highest price ever paid for National Bank certificates was paid to-day 30 o/o prem. on 30 o/o paid, and with 6 o/o dividend, which brings the price out at 51 premium, on the scrip before the call and dividend paid. One lot of 200 certificates sold at this price, but buyers for much more, and one holder refused an offer of 35 o/o prem., which shows how well the stock is held and how amongst capitalists it is considered the best buying in the market.

Before the ring opened this morning exchange brokers were looking for bills, and takers of sterling offering 9/16 and 47½, which is the Provincial Bank rate. Francs seem to be all swept off as three large takers are in the market, there seems to be no hope for exchange, as even the Cedula operation announced this evening in Diario is but a drop of water in the bucket. So long as these great takers come on the market, the Provincial Bank must be prepared to continue drawing.

We are indebted to our indefatigable colleague, El Diario, for the proper version of the Cedula business, 2 millions Cedulas are to be pledged in Europe. These Cedulas will not be bought in the market, but will be taken from the two banks, Provincial and Mortgage, and always will serve to create a new demand for the bank wherewith to pay the March coupon, and will give a little more exchange to the market; all the other versions of this business are incorrect.

The ring opened this morning glum enough and the stocks lost their buoyance of yesterday. A small lot of Argentine Gas Shares, 26, sold at 1.150, and a lot of old Gas Shares offered but not yet sold; both Cedulas and Bank Shares rule weakish, and half the ring was busy all the morning about the new list for the Jockey Club meeting to be held to-night.

Exchange, all takers at following rates:—5.01 Paris; 5.00 Antwerp; 47 9/16 London, and 4.05 marks. There is a lot of Marks Banco exchange offering, in fact, the only exchange at the moment except at the bank.

Our colleague El Diario publishes an excellent and most interesting article on the Frozen Mutton business, written by Mr. Piran, who seems to know more about the trade than any one else here.

As appears by notice, Mr. Casellares, C.E., will leave at once for the South, to finish the survey of the 5th Section. This is important for owners of land out there.

The estate of Ochoa & Co. has wound up most miserably, giving only 3 per cent. to the general creditors. The privileged creditors were:—

Provincial Bank, 10,200 pats.
National Bank, 20,116 "
Fisco, 6,000 "

The general creditors—Lover y Cerro, Barcelona, 39,000 pats.; Caraboso Bank, 25,000 pats.; Dubrvior, Brazil, 3,000 pats.; Berisso, 3,000; and the rest creditors for small amounts. The debts were 12 against 5 millions assets. At one time the house of Ochoa was considered the strongest in the place.

The wooden houses in La Plata are going up so fast that tenants may begin to look out for furniture vans to take their furniture to the station. Another cargo of houses is on the way out, so that by May all the Government people will be properly accommodated. Wooden houses are now coming greatly in vogue, and we hear that one party has written to the States for a house like those at Long Branch A fine two-storey twelve-roomed wooden house will be put up in June on the Loreto camps.

The works of the Santa Fe and the Colonies Railway, concessionaires Messrs. Murrieta, will be commenced at once; we hear Mr Meiggs, so renowned on the West Coast, has obtained the contract.

The Shares of the Buenos Aires Loan and Trust Co. are quoted on the Stock Exchange list, and with much pleasure we learn the Company is doing a very large business in this market and likely to do much more.

Mr Thomas Drysdale leaves on Saturday in the steamer Guadiana. A special train will convey Mr Drysdale and his friends from Central Station at 10.45 a.m. to the Boca, where a small steamer will be in waiting to take the party to the Outer Roads.

The death of Mr Samuel Haycroft was announced by cable from London. Deceased many years ago had a large exporting house in this market, and a very wide circle of friends. For the last 6 or 7 years he has lived in London and in very poor health so much so that death may be accepted as a relief.

The heat to-day was still more intense and many parties remained in their houses and did not come to town. Some people say that this time last year it was also very hot, but we never remember such heat in March before, and letters from the camp say the heat is dreadful; sheep at were being driven up from the West to Loreto had to rest for 15 days on the road such was the tremendous heat.

All sorts of rumours were afloat in the Bolsa to-day, chiefly contradictory of the news so current yesterday about the Cedulas going to Europe. We note that Series F has broke away from 84, and as the new stock comes on the market it will break away still further; strange to say, holders of E are now selling out and buying F. A very favored operation last month.

To-morrow the greatest property auction for many years held in this city comes off, Mr Bullrich, as a matter of course auctioneer. The property is corner of Maipu and Rivadavia, 3 storeys, and all tenanted from ground to the roof. They say that outside of the heirs there are 37 city men who without the aid of the Mortgage or other banks could buy his property; it will probably be bought in by some of the heirs, as the sale is judicial, and merely to arrange the estate.

The market on the Bolsa at afternoon did every one up; business is almost brought to a stand-still by such unprecedented heat. Some American exchange passed at 47¾. A few Bank Shares at 126½ sellers and Cedulas 75.—100 sold for to-morrow at 88½. A lot of Transandine Telegraph Shares said to be sold at 235.

Discount brokers report money still tighter, and all the private banks of accord. The Provincial Bank discounted on Wednesday 250,000 m/n., and the National Bank a so did something, but the applications for discount are very heavy.

The lists for the Bahia Blanca saladero close on the 15th inst.

Mr Rijal retires from the firm of Viademonte and Co.

The arrivals at the Riachuelo yesterday were:—

Steamer Progreso from Victoria with two lighters in tow loaded with produce cargoes; steamer Inca from Curumba and ports with passengers and produce cargo, and 16 coasting vessels with produce cargoes. The departures were:—Steamer Toro for Bahia Blanca with passengers and general cargo, 16 craft for river ports.

The following table of coal shipments to the River Plate in Jan. 1884 will be found interesting:—

La Plata has now two newspapers, the latest a frisky opposition organ, started for the express purpose of making things hot for the powers that be. Fun may be expected.

The following is the latest Orange news from Ireland. It has a lemony flavour:—"At the Dublin Commission yesterday the trial of Mr. Mathews, proprietor of the Tyrone Courier, and two men, named Gibson and Richardson, for burning a Land League hut at Pomeroy, was concluded. It is alleged that the hut was set on fire in revenge for the stones thrown into the railway carriage occupied by Sir Stafford Northcote when visiting the North of Ireland. Evidence was given that the accused rode in a car to the hut, and on the way were singing, "To hell with the Pope and Parnell." The jury found the prisoners guilty. Mr. Mathews was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, and the other two to six months."

A Zarzuela Company for the "Nacional," they say, is on the way out. They are, of course, all Spaniards, first-raters, and have embarked from Barcelona.

Gent to waiter: "Bring me some grammatical and typographical errors." Waiter looking puzzled at first, but recovering in a moment his usual serenity. "We are just out of them, sir." "Then what do you mean by keeping them on your bill of fare?"

It is said that an Italian has at Lima an opera company composed of 30 parrots and other birds, with which he gives Bellini's operas. A company of 122 parrots is expected in Rio on the 3d of May for a four months season.

A serious accident occurred in Rio on the arrival there of the English Royal Mailer Tamar. Before the vessel had quite stopped, eight third-class passengers made a rush for the boat and proceeded to land, passing by the stern. Just at the moment, however, the screw was reversed and the wave caused the boat to capsize. Three were drowned befor e assistance could be given, and one was rescued, but with broken bones. If the account be true nobody was to blame except the victims themselves, although there are some complaints of carelessness on the part of the steamer.

The Hole in the Mole has reappeared. We warmly welcome it as an old "conocido." The repairs required will cost over 2,000 Nats.

Monsgr. Capel was much struck in America by the precociousness of the children. He called with the Archbishop upon a Baltimore lady, who said to her four-year old boy—"My son, speak to the Archbishop." The boy readily held out his hand and said—"How do, Arch?"

Bahia Blanca is going abead. Water Works are mooted; Raggio & Co. are going to run steamers direct from Genoa, and other signs of rapid progress are seen on all sides.

Kind words are like bald heads; they can never dye.
